

1 Planning meeting with the partners of the LMD project

On November 11, 2012 there was a meeting of LMD project partners. On the agenda of the meeting the following issues were discussed: 2012 reports, problems in 2012, the work of AASP, Platform and Training laboratory, working plans for 2013.

The project manager suggested all to intervene a unified reporting structure in 2013.

The challenges partners faced in 2012 were heard: with processors (reorientation to other cultures, bankruptcy), reductions the volume of products by the processors; border barriers (Kazakhstan, Uzbekistan), not adherence to contractual obligations (on the processing enterprises and farmers), failure to cooperate with the supported organizations; hard to convince the Processing Enterprise and TC to pay for services, the lack of TC and buyers in the country, lack of competitiveness in pricing policies for fresh produce transport fresh produce from the south (no railroad), not favorable loans for crop production.

In 2013, the project will continue to work with farmers, processors and traders. A common solution for meetings platform was: holding the Platform on the last Friday of every third month once, chairing of the Platform is at AASP. 15 persons attended the meeting.

2 The "Local Market Development" project has supported the development of mobile applications for Agriculture for Android and iOS platforms

In December, PO "AgroLead" should complete the development of mobile applications for Agriculture for Android and iOS platforms as part of the project "Development and promotion of agricultural marketing information systems for agriculture in Tajikistan and Kyrgyzstan, with the use of mobile applications" with the support by "Local market Development" project, Helvetas/ICCO.

In this project, NGO "AgroLead" this year is working on two fronts:

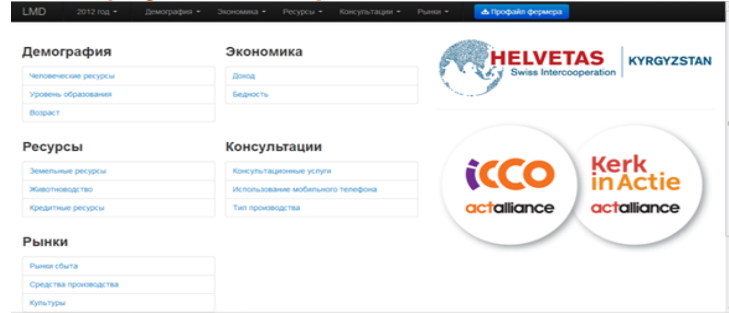

- The mobile application "Integrated management production of tomatoes",

- Mobile Guide to biological measures in agriculture. The main difference of these directories is their interactivity, special design and advanced content, as guides will be available in English and Russian languages.

Guides will be available in late January 2013 and will be distributed through the App Store and Google play.

3 New software for databases Farmers of the LMD project will simplify the work of partners in 2013

LMD project will simplify the work of partners in 2013. PO "AgroLead" together with LLC "AgroInformAsia" develops new software for monitoring, storage and analysis of a database on the farmers of the Project "Development of Local Market."

The new system will be completed questionnaire to the farmers whose data will be automatically entered into the database via scanning and recognition.

Also, the new system will allow the partners to receive already processed data, namely, the farmer's profile for the current year for the organization, through a special account at the system.

The partners also will be available to analyze the data and assess the impact on farmers in the dynamics.

Presentation for partners to work with the new system of monitoring, storage, and database analysis will be conducted in February.
